- Alternative pathways beyond school – Exploring non-traditional routes into construction and the steps to starting an apprenticeship
- Industry demand and future opportunities – Growing demand for skilled trades with the SEAI's target of retrofitting 500,000 homes by 2030, offering strong job security

Interactive stands & Q&A:

- Following the presentation, students and parents can engage with managers, apprentices, and skilled workers from the MJOS Group to gain insights and ask questions

We look forward to attending and engaging with students who are considering their next steps after school.

This is a fantastic opportunity for students and parents to gain a deeper insight into apprenticeship opportunities in the construction industry and we would encourage all students who are considering apprenticeships post school along with their parents to attend.

Kind Regards,

Michael McDonagh

Principal
